DE HOOP NATURE RESERVE

Winding through country roads and crossing the Breede River by ferry at Malgas I finally reached De hoop Nature Reserve. The long and winding road was worth the effort as I entered part of a World Heritage Site that is rich in biodiversity and rare species of fynbos and a vast unspoilt coastline. The diversity of terrain of this 33 00 hectare nature reserve is what makes it a particularly intriguing.

The reserve includes the Potberg Mountains and some of the finest coastline in South Africa with rocky shorelines, white sandy beaches and rolling dunes. stretching from Table Mountain to Cape Point.
